<https://youtu.be/VJouxli89yE?si=vMKJHx8SYdMAwHMM>

By Kirk & Kim Duncan, 3 Key Elements

Are you in a new position at your job? Don't be too complacent. There may be some things that you should stop doing or you could lose your job. Here are 9 tips on how not to get fired.

1. Honesty – Be honest if you mess up
2. Be teachable – Ask your supervisor how you are doing
3. Don't pretend you have skills you don't – Don't fake it
4. Ask Questions – Get Clarification
5. Learn about your company mission – and its products & services
6. Be early – give yourself time to not be late!
7. Keep Clean – keep your desk and tools neat
8. Work Hard & Efficiently – Keep Lists & Calendar

If you have these skills, they are transferrable to any job.

If you do not have these skills yet we can help you get trained!

Complete the activity on the following page and speak with your RC or CMPA about additional training opportunities.

Career Reinvention: Transferrable and Employability Skills Activity

Reinventing yourself for a career change can happen for many reasons – change in health, boredom, layoffs. Skills in one career can transfer to a new career. Once you list the skills you already have, you can see which new ones you will need to learn. It's not as overwhelming as you might think!

Use your past jobs, volunteer experiences, and life skills – they all count!

For each skill below, see if you can give an example of how you have demonstrated that skill. If not, bring this sheet back to your CN or CMPA to inquire about additional trainings!

Reliable Can you think of a time when a boss or manager could count on you to do something extra/cover for another?	Example: I show up when scheduled or give as much notice as possible for appointments, jury duty, etc. and make sure to communicate when you I am unexpectedly ill.
Problem-Solver Can you think of a time when there was a problem at work that you needed to solve?	Examples: As a cashier I quickly devised a way to take orders when the point-of-sale (POS) system shut down in a power outage. As an office receptionist, I created a more efficient filing system.
Teamwork Can you think of a time when you worked with other co-workers to accomplish something?	Examples: As a waiter, I work under pressure with a team of bussers, cooks, and dishwashers, while tactfully maneuvering a range of personalities and interfacing with customers As a stock-clerk, I must work with many others to ensure the timely completion of inventory.

Good Communicator Can you think of a time when you clearly communicated an idea?	Examples: • I am able to take notes, and ask clarifying questions in order to perform tasks. • I communicate quickly when things go off schedule or not as expected in order to get back on track quickly and accurately.
Organized Can you think of a time when your organization helped you to do something more efficiently?	Examples: • As a parent, I continually planned, scheduled, and juggled numerous responsibilities for a family • As shift leader, I ensured the team understood safety, what they are doing, and stayed on task
Takes Initiative Can you think of a time when you stepped up and did something for your boss or manager?	Examples: • I offer to help with closing duties without being asked. • I notice and restock empty shelves before I am asked.
Willing to Learn Can you think of a time when you didn't know something but went looking for the information or learned something new?	Examples: • I have taken classes in x, y, and z in order to improve those skills
